Ron's professional career began about ten years ago when he produced and arranged the sound track and album for the movie "Ned Kelley" that featured performances by Kris Kristofferson, Waylon Jennings, Billy Swan, Mickey Newberry, Shel Silverstein and others.

He continued his career as musical director of the film "Who Is Harry Kellerman and Why is He Saying Those Terrible Things About Me?" starring Dustin Hoffman. Ron also produced the sound track and album for the film that was written by Shel Silverstein and included performances by Dr. Hook. This exposure led to a recording contract for Dr. Hook.

Ron has produced four million selling records in the U.S.A. on Dr. Hook that include: "Sylvia's Mother," "The Cover of the Rolling Stone," "Only Sixteen" and "A Little Bit More."

Ron also manages Dr. Hook whose recordings and performances have also gained wide acclaim outside the U.S.A. for which they have received 30 gold and/or platinum albums throughout many countries around the world.

The latter part of 1976 Music Week in London selected Ron as top producer in the world according to their survey.

New product soon to be released that Ron has produced includes an album on Capitol Records by Dr. Hook, album on Parachute Records by Shel Silverstein, album on Capitol by Ray Sawyer, album on Parachute Records by Sherry Grooms and an album on Epic Records by Katy Southern.

Ron was born in Brooklyn and grew to love music while attending school in Mexico where he learned to play flamenco guitar. He is president of Grapefruit Productions, Entertainment Management Associates and Horse Hairs Music and maintains office and staff in Madison, Tennessee with branch offices in Brooklyn, N.Y. and Los Angeles.
